A MESSAGE FROM FR. PARKS

Catholic Friends vs. Friends who are Catholic

The Christian life is not meant to be lived alone. Jesus sent out his disciples 2 by 2. We are made in the image and likeness of a God who is in Himself an eternal exchange of love. Thus, we are made for communion and love. We are made for relationships, and among the various loves we need as human persons, friendship is key.

We all need Catholic friendship to continue the narrow path our Lord has set out for us. This begs the question, "What is a Catholic friendship? For instance, if I have a friend who is Catholic i.e. baptized in the faith—does that make being in a relationship with them a de facto Catholic one? Or is something more required?"

We get an insight to these questions by considering what C.S. Lewis relates in his book, "The Four Loves." In this short book, Lewis outlines four different Greek words for the various kinds of love. In his chapter on friendship (which is the Greek word adelphoi), he remarks that lovers stand "face to face" looking at each other while friends stand "side by side" looking at the same thing. He says the question one intuitively asks another when they are gauging whether they will be friends is, "Do you see the truth I see?" Friends stand shoulder to shoulder because they delight in beholding the same truth. That truth is the foundation of their relationship.

We now have the key to answering our questions. What distinguishes a "Catholic friendship" from being friends with someone who "we just happen to be Catholic", is the foundation of the relationship. For my relationship with another to be a Catholic one, as we stand side by side we both see God (even though no two people have the same relationship with God) as He is revealed fully by Jesus and His Church. That "seeing together" is the foundation of our relationship, and what constitutes making it a Catholic one. We delight in the same thing, and that thing is nothing other than God Himself. To be clear, friends can see many things in a similar way, see several of "the same truths", but if one of them is not the Catholic faith, then it cannot be considered a Catholic one, i.e. that it is oriented to helping me live as a disciple of Jesus.

This certainly does not mean that non-Catholic friendships are not worth having, or that you cannot have a beautiful Christian friendship with a Protestant Christian (which I have experienced myself), or that a "just happen to be Catholic" friendship cannot become a "Catholic friendship". To do that, one person in the relationship's faith may "catch up with the other" and then they begin to see the same thing together. Friends are necessary for a truly human life. And the best friendships are the ones that help us to attain eternal life, i.e. Catholic ones.

Welcome to Our Lady's Corner—
Your Source for Catholic Inspiration!

Last week the discussion was about offering up suffering and how this is an important and valuable way to participate in the furtherment of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Some suffering is worse than others. Humiliation and inconveniences pale in comparison to the physical pain of cancer, the emotional turmoil of a broken marriage or the anguish of losing a loved one when they pass away. The list goes on. Suffering can be relatively minor or it can be severe.

Saint Josemarie Escriva offers sobering reality:

"Suffering overwhelms you because you take it like a coward. Meet it bravely, with a Christian spirit, and you will regard it as a treasure."

This certainly makes you stop in your tracks. It is, however, quite true. Suffering will occur, however small or great, with regularity. Jesus gives opportunity after opportunity in varying degrees for you to participate in redemptive suffering. The greater the suffering, the greater the value, the greater His trust in you, and the closer He is to you. And the more graces He will provide to allow you to see it through, too.

Can you see where this is going? Another very important aspect to suffering to understand is that He wants to use it to get closer to you without violating your free will. He wants you to realize that you can do nothing without Him. It is a chance to rely on Him; to unite with Him. He did suffer tremendously during his Passion, and He wants you to cling to His heart in your suffering as well. So the purpose is twofold. Offer up your suffering for graces for others, and come closer to Him than you ever thought possible. Just say yes to Him!

He wills this for you. He adores you. He longs for you. He thirsts for you. Your ultimate goal is to unite with Him. There can be no other goal. He wants you very close. This can only be accomplished through suffering. Think about this today and everyday.

Rev. Martin Holler to Visit OLOJ

Fr. Holler, a priest of the Diocese of Steubenville, Ohio, served as pastor at Christ the King University Parish and in campus ministry at Ohio University. Now retired, he makes annual service trips to a small school in Kenya and preaches for Unbound. He is inspired by the "Oscar Romero Prayer" of Bishop Ken Untener: "We cannot do everything and there is a sense of liberation in realizing that. This enables us to do something, and to do it very well."

Sanctuary & Adoration Chapel Candles

All Catholic Churches have Our Blessed Lord in repose at all times in the Tabernacle on the Altar and in their Adoration Chapel (if they have one). Next to the Tabernacle is a candle that must be perpetually lit to indicate the presence of Our Lord.

In addition to Mass Intentions, we offer our parishioners the opportunity to sponsor a Sanctuary Candle or an Adoration Chapel Candle in honor or in memory of a loved one.

We publish these names in our bulletin each week and the sponsor is provided with a card that they can give to the family of the person they are honoring or remembering.

You may sponsor a candle for a $20 donation by visiting the office or by calling the office at 480-488-2229.

In the Gospel today we see how Jesus sent his Apostles out two by two. From the beginning of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, members visit in pairs "two by two", those who are poor and needy in their homes. It is there, in the family setting, that Vincentians listen, offer humble advice, and render assistance.

Have you considered answering the call to help serve the poor by joining the Society of St. Vincent de Paul?
