WHAT'S ON FORMED NOW?

Saint Jerome — Doctor of the Church

Feast Day: September 30

Saint Jerome was born around 347 A.D. in Stridon, Dalmatia, and is traditionally regarded as the most learned of the Latin Fathers of the Church. A brilliant student, he traveled to Rome to study rhetoric and classical literature, but his life changed dramatically when he experienced a deep conversion, realizing that true wisdom is found not in earthly knowledge but in the knowledge of God. He lived for a time as a hermit, became a priest, and served as secretary to Pope Damasus I who commissioned him in 382 to produce a Latin translation of the Bible, now known as the Vulgate. The Vulgate gained widespread acceptance and became the standard Latin Bible throughout Western Christendom so much so that the Council of Trent in 1546 decreed it as the exclusive Latin authority for the Bible.

St. Jerome | Catholic Saints

An early Church Father from the 4th century, St. Jerome translated the Bible into Latin with the desire to make Scripture more accessible. St. Jerome is the patron of biblical scholars, translators, and archivists and famously said, "Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ."

A MESSAGE FROM FR. JOHN MUIR

This Sunday, Jesus tells a short, uncomfortable story. A father asks two sons to go work in the vineyard. One says no, but later goes. The other says yes, but never shows up. It is a parable so simple, we almost miss how sharp it is. Jesus is clear about who it is for. This is not aimed at pagans or outsiders. It is aimed squarely at religious people, people who know the right words and sound obedient.

Jesus is not condemning unbelief so much as disobedience. The polite hypocrisy that says the right things while quietly resisting the Father's will. St. John Chrysostom put it bluntly, "Not words, but deeds, are what God requires. Nothing so exasperates Him as insincere obedience, while nothing so delights Him as repentance."

Every disciple must face that mirror. Do I publicly profess faith in Christ while privately resisting what He asks of me? It is easy to say, I believe in God in my heart. But if faith never becomes action, it slowly becomes an illusion.

Jesus does not expose hypocrisy to shame us. He reveals it to heal us. He wants our hearts and our deeds to speak the same word, to let our yes truly mean yes. Like the second son who initially refused but afterwards changed his mind and went, Jesus invites us to step into the Father's will, however late, however imperfectly.

Challenge: Where are your public faith and private obedience divided? Where do you say, I will go, but never enter the vineyard? Go, get to work, even if it is late. The Father's vineyard is still open.

— Father John Muir

Welcome to Our Lady's Corner— Your Source for Catholic Inspiration

We pray for healing, we have healing masses and we ask Jesus for miracles. While this is all right and good, there is something far more to ask for. When Mary and Joseph presented Jesus in the temple, Simeon said that their child, Jesus, was to be a contradiction. Have you noticed that all things Christian are a complete contradiction to the secular world? One of the greatest contradictions is to put oneself in last place for the good of others. Nobody in the secular world is talking about this. But Jesus did. And he said "pick up your cross and follow me." We are called to suffer, as He did.

So here is something you don't hear much - DON'T be so quick to pray away your sufferings, or the sufferings of others. What? Why would we want someone to suffer? Why would God want someone to suffer? Isn't suffering bad? Well, this is not the correct approach. You are thinking like man and not like God. Suffering is a profound gift (yes, a gift). Suffering is a chance to come close to Christ. Suffering lets us know our limitations. Suffering lets us know that we should be dependent on God for everything. Suffering shows us how little we are before Him. Suffering shows us how weak we are. Suffering keeps the ego in check. Suffering reveals the truth about ourselves and our world. Suffering reveals that you should not put your strong hold on anything in this world. Suffering teaches us to stop putting anything before God. Suffering illuminates heaven as the final destination, not this world. Suffering straightens out our priorities. Suffering teaches humility. Suffering shows us who we really are. Suffering teaches us to be compassionate by entering into another's sufferings, thereby uniting us. Suffering makes us stop to THINK when nothing else will. Suffering causes us to turn to God, which we would never do otherwise.

The greatest reward in heaven, the ones who will be closest to Jesus for all of eternity, are the ones who suffered the most. Don't you want this for your loved ones? When we unite our suffering to Jesus on the cross, it has a PROFOUND effect in that it provides graces to others, such as conversion graces. There can be no conversion graces without sacrifice/suffering. Why would you deny your loved ones this honor which will be celebrated forever? How could you? It is time to look at suffering as the gift that it truly is, and don't pray it away, rather, pray for strength, endurance and perseverance - for you and your loved ones. Stop looking for EASY. Start looking for the PROFOUND. A change in your approach to suffering is a far greater miracle than physical healing.

ALPHA--FALL 2026 an open invitation to open conversations

We believe everyone should have the opportunity to ask life's big questions:

What is my purpose?

Who is Jesus and why does He matter?

Why is there suffering?

Alpha is a series of conversations that explore life, spirituality, and faith in a fun, nonjudgmental, and open environment. Each session includes dinner, a short video, and a discussion where you can talk about your thoughts and questions with people from all different backgrounds. Try it the first night and see if Alpha is right for you. No strings attached, no pressure, and no cost.
